

Joe Lenthall

Joe is a UK and European patent attorney within the chemistry and materials team at Mewburn Ellis LLP. His work focusses on pharmaceutical, medtech, industrial chemistry and consumer product industries, representing major multinational companies within those industries. In addition to managing patent portfolios and drafting and prosecuting patent applications Joe is particularly involved in EPO opposition and appeal work. Mewburn Ellis were specifically praised for their EPO opposition and appeal work when placed in the top tier of Legal 500 rankings again this year. Joe also is involved in patent litigation in the UK courts, where he brings his strong technical background to the proceedings.